

Have you seen me?

Photo by Dan Costa

ANTARCTIC SEAL PHOTOS WANTED

Researchers at the University of North Carolina Wilmington, University of Exeter, University of California Santa Cruz and the British Antarctic Survey are investigating the ecology of Antarctic seals as well as the effects of climate change and we need your help!

HOW YOU CAN HELP

Send us your photos! We are looking for photos of Antarctic seals hauled out on ice (individuals or groups) that include the surrounding area (sea ice, open water), as well as the date, location and any other pertinent information related to the sightings (e.g. weather, behavior, other species in the area). Use your camera's built-in GPS for location, if possible (not required, location info can be taken from other reliable sources).

WHERE TO SUBMIT PHOTOS

- Please submit your photos and the photos' corresponding information to: www.antarctic-seals.com, or scan the QR code
- For any questions, please contact: Alyssa Scott // aas1781@uncw.edu

British Antarctic Survey

NATURAL ENVIRONMENT RESEARCH COUNCIL